

Post-Event Summary

206

Tickets

15core.team
organizers6

Volunteers

15

Sponsors

1Premium
Sponsor8

Partners

3Media
Partners15Supporting Communities16

Talks

17Speakers from 12
Countries1Great
After-Party1*const:
Change

Results loading...

revo.js brought us two full-days of tech-focused talks, thought-provoking ideas and community-networking. Looking back, it truly was how we wanted it to be. Looking forward, well, the future looks revo.bright.

But before we move further, we need to take a step back and assess all the effort our organizing teams, sponsors and partners invested in revo.js. Glimpsing at the results will help us put things into perspective and understand exactly where our individual effort was best used.

Creating and implementing the first-ever JavaScript conference in Timisoara wouldn't have been possible without our sponsors and we don't just say that because it's in our contract. We say it because it's the bottom line. What's more, it's our sponsors' and partners' merit to have transformed each revo.break into a truly relaxing and tasty experience for the 206 participants. Here's more on exactly how.

Workshop 02/10

1

Workshop

25

participants

Before the conference, on the 2nd of October, we organised a full-day revo.workshop at DevPlant. The workshop was held by Gleb Bahmutov and due to its topic “Efficient End-to-End Testing with Cypress.io”, it gathered 25 participants, one more than we initially had in plan.

Conference highlights

revo.js Giveaways

Upon entering the event, participants could grab their favorite revo.js memorabilia or participate in the revo.book.swap. They could enjoy the goodies for free, or give back some goodness by donating money. Although initially we were planning on a 50% split, we had a change of heart and all donations will go to support Iris Highschool for children with special needs.

Sponsors' Swag Table

Participants and speakers had access to a wide range of swag from all our sponsors. The swag branded articles were on display throughout the entire event and participants could freely choose their favorite items. And proudly use and wear these, of course. Needless to say, all were highly appreciated.

Sponsored sweet & salty breaks

Each break was a true delight to participants and speakers, courtesy of our sponsors. From salty treats to sweet bites, a cheese bar, nutty snacks and even fresh sandwiches, the participants had the chance to re-energize themselves before heading back to attend another talk.

[e-spres-oh] Corner

The main sponsor of the event created an interactive corner with an arcade game that challenged the participants' typing speed. Of course, there was a twist involved: it wasn't your run-of-the-mill QWERTY keyboard. The messed up keys proved, once more, than Change is the only const. In addition to the game developed in-house, the corner offered branded swag and coffee-bean cookies in line with the company's identity.

Cognizant Softvision Corner

Cognizant Softvision, who opted for the extra sponsorship package, invited participants to a fun and engaging VR experience that tested their reflexes and dance moves. In addition, they held a contest that awarded one of the participants who sent through their JavaScript code of conduct. The Cognizant Softvision Corner also functioned as a relaxation and interaction area with bean-bags and good vibes.

Hop Script courtesy of Bereta

The first day ended on a high-note as all the participants, speakers and organizers said “Cheers!” with the official beer of the conference: Hop Script. The bottled beer even had a specially designed label that was visually coherent with the conference’s identity.

The main stage

16 engaging talks

The conference proposed a mix of tech talks with a few presentations that also blended in various domains, without losing the JavaScript focus. All talks were no longer than 30 minutes and were delivered by 17 speakers from 12 countries. To have a clearer idea regarding the variety of topics covered, please check-out the conference's agenda.

Live Captions

All talks were live-captioned by a talented stenographer from MyClearText. Orla impressed everybody with her incredible typing abilities and her captions were a great effort towards creating an accessible conference for a broader audience. We wanted to make all people feel welcomed at revo.js and, more than that, we wanted them to be able to follow the talks: from people with special needs to people who were not Native English speakers and people with difficulties in hearing or understanding parts of the presentations.

After-Party

Because every great conference deserves a great after-party, those who still had energy for change left gathered at The Charlatan's Pub, courtesy of Irian Software Development. Once again we said "Cheers!" and seized the opportunity to do some more community-networking.

Feedback

Kenigbolo
@expensivestevie

I'm back home and we'll rested. Hopefully the same for all the speakers at @revojsro. I want to take out this time to express my sincere gratitude to the organizers of this amazing conference. Thank you for having me. I enjoyed every bit of this conference. It was amazing.

19:28 · 07/10/2019 from Vantaa, Suomi · Twitter for iPhone

Kwinten Pisman
@KwintenP

Back to work after spending time @revojsro. Huge shoutout to the organizers! Everything was so well taken care of! The eye for detail was amazing. I hope to be back next year!

10:45 · 07/10/2019 · Twitter Web App

Martin Hochel
@martin_hotell

So here's the thing. I had high expectations about @revojsro. It turns out they were all achieved beyond my expectations. Awesome work Revo team ❤️👍💯! Const is the only change, even in reversed order cc @pfeiffer_andrei 🎤MIC see you next year 👏

11:29 · 06/10/2019 · Twitter Web App

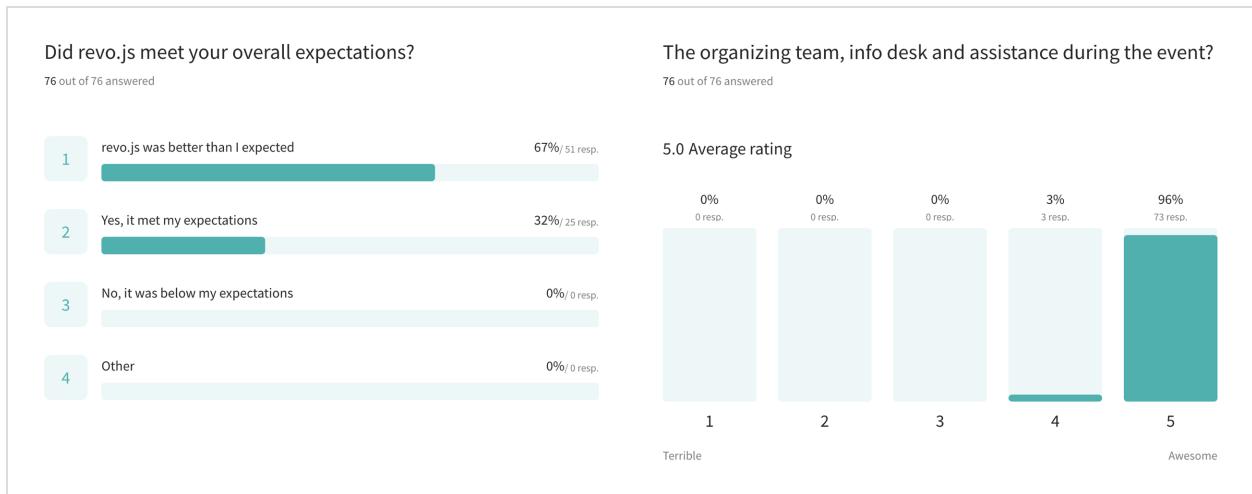

Alex Moldovan
@alexnmoldovan

Leaving Timisoara with a great feeling after an amazing first edition of @revojsro. It felt so cozy and at the same time super professional, I made a ton of new friends and met some super nice people from the local community. Will definitely return next year! 🚀

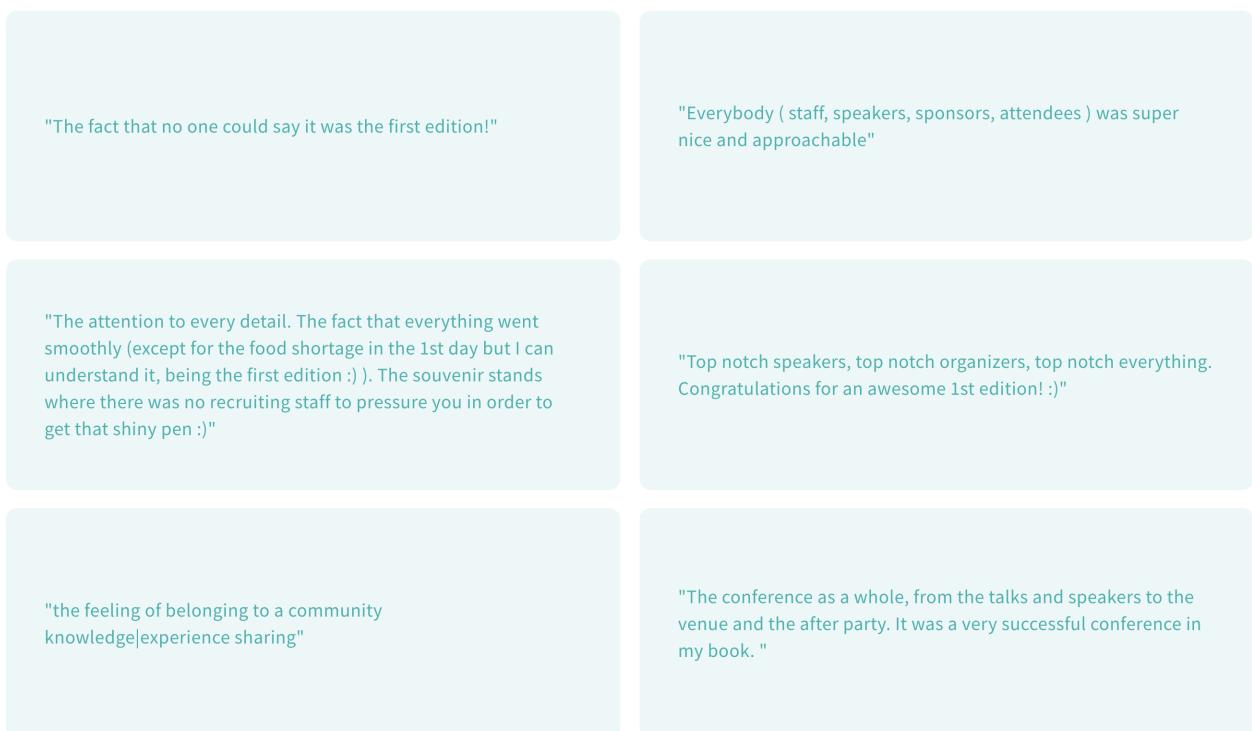

17:01 · 05/10/2019 · Twitter Web App

Participants' Feedback

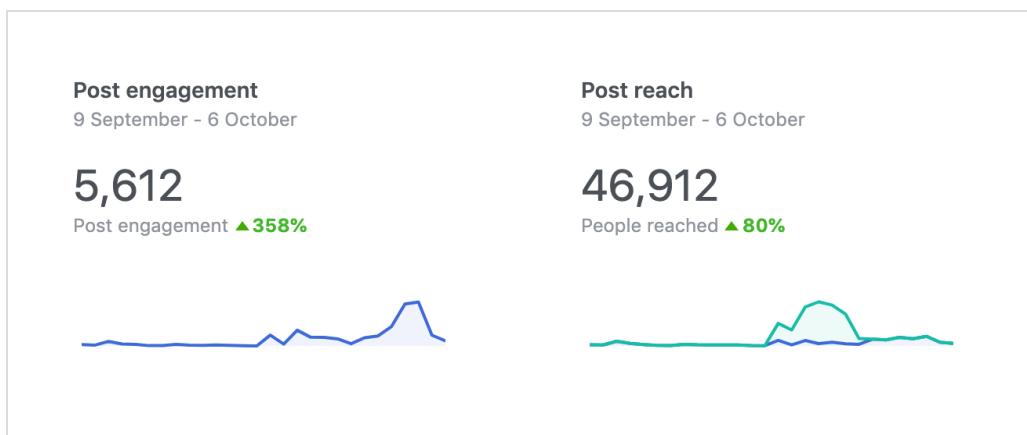

What did you enjoy most about revo.js?

76 out of 76 answered

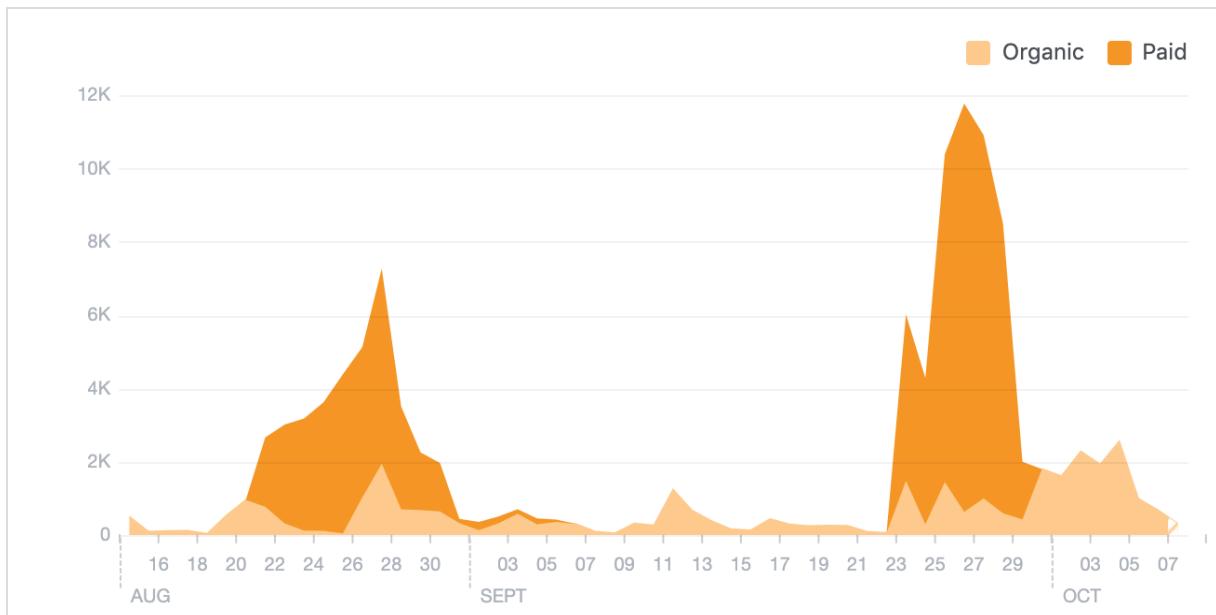

Social Media

Facebook

Post Reach Over Time

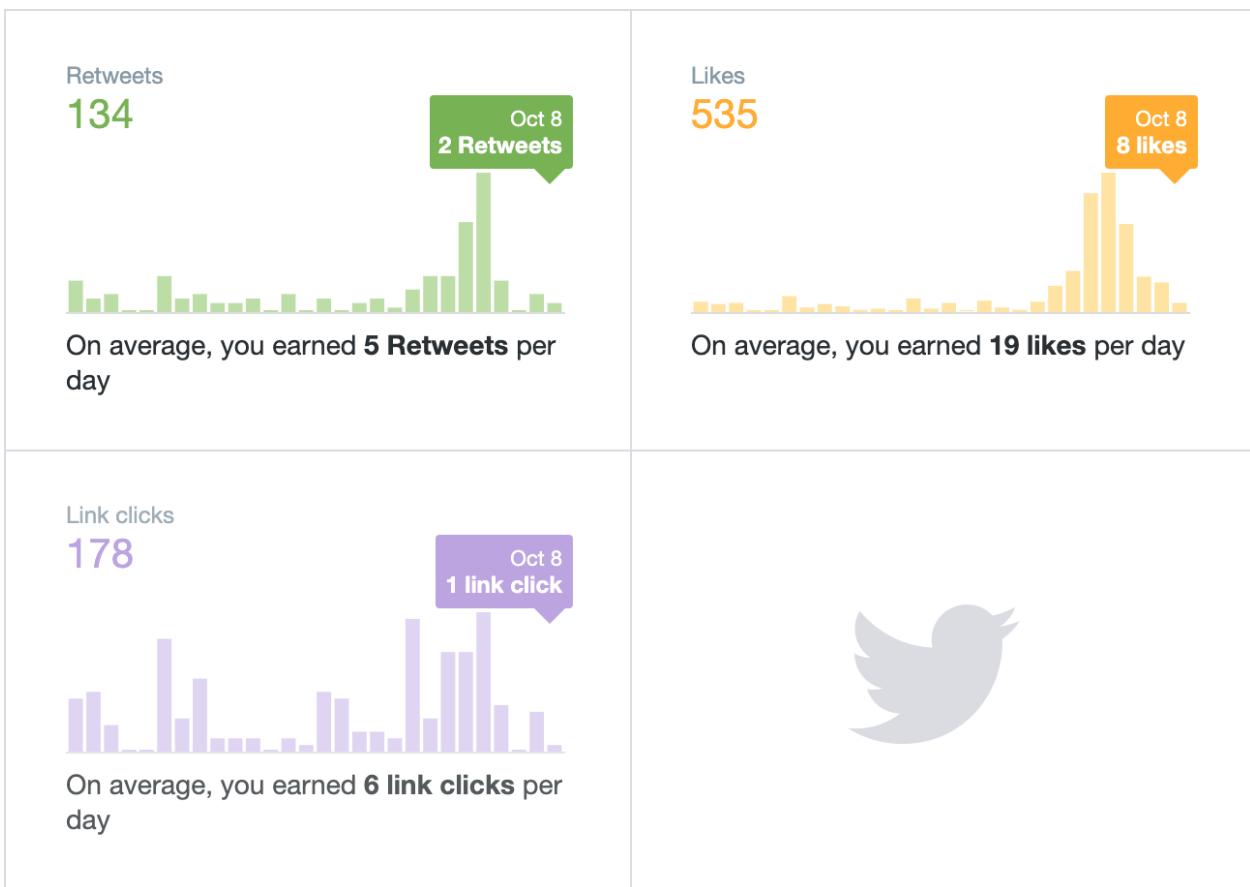

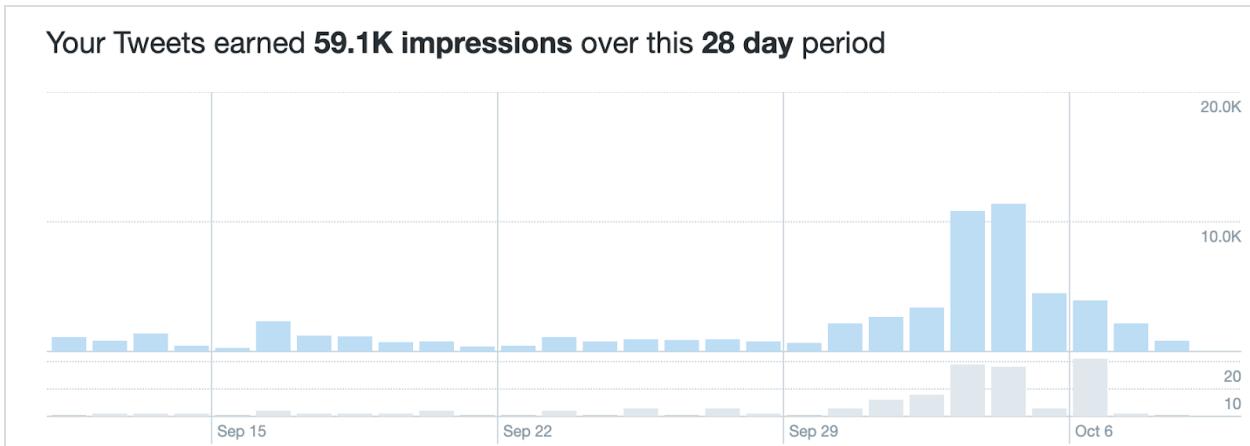

Followers

Country	Your Fans	City	Your Fans	Language	Your Fans
Romania	879	Timisoara, Timiș Count...	419	Romanian	480
Israel	17	Bucharest, Romania	58	English (US)	322
Germany	15	Cluj-Napoca, Cluj Cou...	24	English (UK)	114
United Kingdom	14	Arad, Arad County, Ro...	15	Hungarian	13
United States of America	11	Oradea, Bihor County, ...	15	Arabic	13
Italy	10	Sibiu, Sibiu County, Ro...	14	French (France)	11
Spain	7	Iasi, Iași County, Roma...	13	Italian	10
Belgium	3	Galati, Galați County, ...	12	German	8
Palestine	3	Brasov, Brașov County,...	11	Spanish (Spain)	7
France	3	Jerusalem, Israel	10	Hebrew	3

Twitter

Website Statistics

1 Jan - 7 Oct. 2019

Unique views on:

- Homepage: 6460
- Supporters page: 981

Audience by country:

- Romania: 57.9%
- United States: 7.8%
- Germany, UK, Spain: 3.5 - 3.8%
- India, Netherlands, Hungary, France, Serbia: 1.0 - 1.6%
- Others: 16.8%

Acquisition:

- Social: 34.5% (26.2% Facebook, 6.2% Twitter, 2.1% others)
- Direct: 32.2%
- Organic search: 24.3%
- Referral: 8.4%

Participants

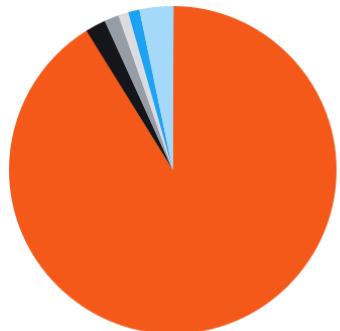

Age Ranges

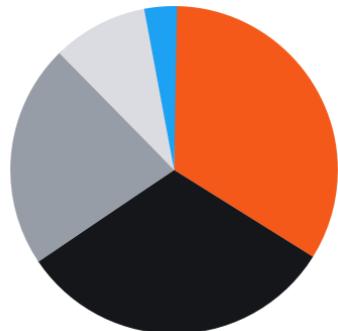

Gender

Participants by City

Work Experience

Sponsors

A big thank you for supporting change. revo.js wouldn't have been possible without you. For real-real.

[e-spres-oh]

 Dream Production	 BusyMachines	 VISMA®	 3PILLAR GLOBAL	 SYneto Simplify • Accelerate • Protect
STEADFORCE	 wevideo	 unifiedpost GROUP	 imobiliare.ro	 plentymarkets®
HAUFE.Group	 IBM®	Cognizant Softvision	 NESS	 endava

Partners

So glad we had you by our side. It was a revo.pleasure. Thanks a bunch.

Media-Partners

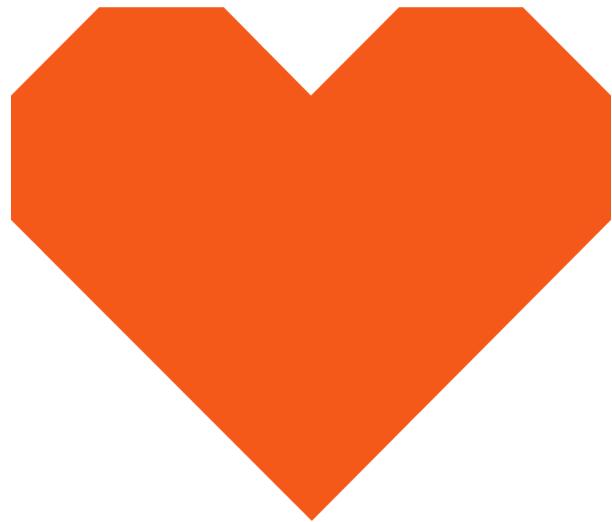

You shared because you cared. We're honored. Thank you for {...word}.

Communities

Thanks for having our back. High-five, up-top, you rock.

Thank you!